CONTEXT

On November 18, 2024, at 12 PM, Dr. Monika Uppal delivered a session on the “Code of Conduct” as part of the orientation day program. She emphasized the importance of discipline, respect, and responsibility among students. A primary focus was on the anti-ragging cell and the importance of maintaining respect for all individuals within the college.

OBJECTIVE

- To familiarize students with the institutional rules, responsibilities, and expected behavioral standards during their academic journey.
- To promote a sense of discipline, professionalism, and ethical behaviour among students from the beginning of the program.

PROCESS

Key guidelines included maintaining silence in classrooms, showing respect towards faculty and seniors, and avoiding any behaviours that could disrupt the learning environment. An 80% attendance rate is mandatory, with punctuality stressed as essential.

Dr. Monika also advised against public demonstrations within the college premises and highlighted the need for polite and appropriate language at all times. Students were encouraged to use college facilities responsibly, dispose of waste properly, and avoid damaging college property. Mobile phones are restricted during class and library hours.

It was made mandatory for all students to carry their college ID cards daily and refrain from bringing outsiders without permission. Participation in college activities was deemed compulsory, with strict guidelines against unauthorized collection of funds. Dr. Monika address concluded with a reminder for students to adhere to these guidelines to maintain a respectful and orderly campus environment.

OUTCOME

Students understood the importance of adhering to the institutional code of conduct and recognized its role in maintaining a respectful and disciplined academic environment.

CONCLUSION

The session successfully instilled awareness and responsibility among students, preparing them to uphold the values and expectations of the institution.

Session on Anti-Ragging and Grievance Redressal Cell:

Dr. Surina Bhullar conducted an informative session on the significance of maintaining a ragging-free campus. The Anti-Ragging Cell was introduced as a proactive initiative to prevent and address any incidents of ragging.

Emphasis was laid on a zero-tolerance policy and the consequences for violations. Furthermore, the structure and role of the Grievance Redressal Cell were elaborated upon. Students were made aware of the procedures for submitting grievances related to academics, administration, or interpersonal issues. The presentation underscored confidentiality, impartiality, and prompt resolution.

2. Formation of Committees and Representation:

The students were informed about the formation of various internal committees to promote transparency, inclusiveness, and accountability. Student representatives were selected to ensure fair representation in institutional matters.

3. Introduction to Arts and Activities Club:

Mrs. Amrita Choudhary introduced the Arts and Activities Club with the aim of promoting artistic and cultural engagement among students. The club encourages participation in various creative disciplines such as visual arts, performing arts, and recreational events. The session highlighted the club's role in fostering a dynamic and collaborative environment and promoting emotional well-being through creative expression.

4. Mentoring and Examination Guidance Session:

A dedicated session on mentoring and examination preparedness was conducted by Mrs. Pamela Ghosh Dutta. The importance of personal mentorship for academic and emotional support was explained. Key points related to examination formats, evaluation processes, and academic performance expectations were clarified. Students were encouraged to approach faculty mentors for guidance and to actively engage with the academic process.
